

DR. MCCONNELL FLAYS MAYOR'S ATTITUDE

Either "Foolish or Incompetent" in Opposing Kissing Arrests, Says Pastor

Opposing the police, denouncing their action, calling Mayor Woodward either "foolish or incompetent," Dr. Lincoln McConnell delivered his initial sermon Sunday night at the Baptist Tabernacle, "giving the wind and reaping the whirlwind" was his topic.

A man in the position of Mayor Woodward, chief executive of a city as large as Atlanta, who would make the statements accredited to him in newspaper must be a fool—either that or vainly too incompetent and ignorant to properly fill his position," said Dr. McConnell. "I was utterly astounded when I heard an Atlanta paper on a train coming into the city and read an interview from the mayor in which he declared himself as being against the policy of the police in arresting such couples as were spending on the steps of the capitol some time ago."

The couple arrested were given a fair trial in the recorder's court and were found for the offense. No person in the world could convince me they were guilty of no more than innocent osculation.

Mr. Woodward and others have indulged in quite a little criticism of chief Beavers and his activities against such cases of offenders. I am in favor of prosecuting this class of offenders. I want to go on record that I am in favor of your sister or your daughter being caught in a compromising position with a man in a public place. Or, worse still, think of the consequences which might arise if the officer who saw such occurrences didn't do his duty in stopping it. It is far better that the police should get a little unpleasant notoriety than that the law should be violated by the men who daily tempt girls. If these men are left unmolested, they ruin their lives forever."

Editorialism also came in for denunciation at the hands of Dr. McConnell. "I notice a great change in the newspapers," said he. "When I was here before they were conservative in the extreme. They printed only straight, legitimate news. Now the position is reversed; they hunt the sensations."

Referring again to Atlanta's social and political status, Dr. McConnell declared that the time has come when the local police force years ago had not based his judgment, but had given him an insight into local conditions which enabled him to talk intelligently and authoritatively on the subject he was discussing. Concluding, the minister said:

The criticism of the police by the city officials can bring but one result. It means a reign of lawlessness in the city. I have been through many law and order campaigns recently. I have seen this condition before. Dissension among city officials where the higher officials are arrayed against the police, the criminal class or the class with a tendency to criminality and wrong doing lose their respect for law and justice and go to their work with both hands."

W. R. WASH RUNS DOWN WOMAN WITH AUTOMOBILE

He Was on Way to Catch Train for College When Accident Happened

Bele Carmichael, a negro woman, was fatally injured shortly after 7 o'clock Monday morning, when she stepped back to dodge an incoming trolley car on Peachtree street near Cain and was struck by an automobile driven by young W. R. Wash, of 318 North Jackson street. She was dragged several feet on the hard pavement.

Mr. Wash had started to the depot with his mother, Mrs. W. R. Wash, preparatory to going to Athens, Ga., to attend the university, when it became necessary to return to his home in order to make some change in a trunk. As he was driving north on Peachtree, the woman who had been talking to a negro man, started to cross the street. The automobile struck and stopped the car in a short distance. The injured woman was rushed to Grady hospital, where an examination by physicians developed the fact that the woman who was not fatally hurt.

Both Mr. Wash and his mother gave a satisfactory account of the accident to Captain Poole, of the police department, and he was allowed to return to his home. He will remain in the city, however, until the actual condition of the victim is known.

THAW LAWYER UNCLE OF MRS. LEO M. FRANK

Samson Selig an Atlantian by Birth, and Well Known Locally

Samson Selig, one of Harry K. Thaw's legal advisers in his flight to prevent extradition from New Hampshire to New York, is an Atlantian by birth. He attended school here in his youth, later serving to the metropolis with his parents, and completing his education here. He is at present a member of the law firm of House, Grossman & Selig, of New York City.

Samson Selig is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Selig, aunt and uncle of Mrs. Leo M. Frank.

Samson Selig, in an interview in a New York paper received by relatives in Atlanta, declared that Thaw's chances in the attempt to place him in the state of New Hampshire were better than in the state of New York. He said that the British government had refused his recent sudden deportation, the attorney said in an interview.

REQUEST TO ORGANIZE EQUAL SUFFRAGE LEAGUE

Formal request to organize a Georgia Equal Suffrage League has been received by Leonard J. Grossman, attorney for the Georgia Woman's Suffrage association, from James Lee Selig, of New York, president of the national league.

It is believed, will give the suffrage movement here a considerable impetus.

BURLESQUE WILL OPEN NEXT SATURDAY, SURE

Delay Is Made Necessary Through Failure of Contractors to Finish

The opening of the Columbia theater in Wall street as a burlesque house has been postponed from Monday night until next Saturday. This announcement was made Monday morning by the management of the White Way Musical Comedy company, of Cincinnati, which is to appear at the place.

The delay was made necessary because of the fact that the remodeling of the structure will not be completed before the end of the week. It became necessary to enlarge the stage and otherwise change the interior of the building. It was thought that this work would be completed Monday but the contractors were unable to finish the task.

YOUR MONEY

Some Answers to a Question Pertinent at
This Time for the Thrifty Owners of Money Available for Investment.

BY JOHN M. OSKISON.

Recently the Annalist, a weekly financial newspaper, printed twelve more or less elaborated replies to these two questions:

1. Is the present an opportune time to buy good securities?
2. If so, should one buy bonds

The editor explained that between the time of sending out the questions and the date of printing the replies the prices of stocks went up, but some

Four bank presidents (Forgan, of the First National of Chicago; Reynolds, of the Continental and Commercial of Chicago; Swinney, of the First National of Kansas City; and Ellfott, of the First National of Los Angeles) answered Swinney, of Kansas City, was the only

Mr. Forgan said that both bond buyers and stock buyers have exceptional opportunities at this time. Mr. Reynolds said that long-term bonds ought to be the most attractive. Mr. Elliott suggests dividing the investment about equally, between bonds and stocks.

Mr. Holt—answered. Mr. Woodcock said by no means certain that it is a good time to invest in stocks and he preferred bonds. High-class stocks also, like the Pennsylvania shares, may be bought with a reasonable expectation of profit. Mr. Holt went a long and interesting explanation of his reasons for thinking that the Money owner ought not to invest excess in short-term notes which are well secured and in bonds which mature soon. He thinks that even the "savings banks" (those having a low yield and of sufficient safety to be legal investments for the funds held by savings banks) will sell at a much lower price than they command now before they begin to rise again.

Professor Irving Fisher, the financial economist, said that "any investments are at present uncertain." Professor Jenks said that panic-proof stocks are good to buy; Professor Heller said that half in good stocks and half in good bonds is the rule of thumb, and this is a good time to buy.

REV. LINCOLN MCCONNELL WELCOMED TO TABERNACLE

Installed as Pastor in Presence of Large and Enthusiastic Audience

Rev. Lincoln McConnell, former pastor of the First Baptist church, was welcomed to the Tabernacle by a large and enthusiastic audience.

The auditorium of the Tabernacle was crowded to its capacity. On the platform were ministers representing various denominations, and among them the Rev. G. H. Hodge, former pastor of the Tabernacle, who presided at the installation service.

The Rev. W. B. Witham, the Atlanta pastor, presided at the service. He was followed by a number of the pastors who made three-minute addresses welcoming Mr. McConnell to the Tabernacle and to the Atlanta, assuring him of their hearty co-operation, and praying for him a successful work.

Mr. McConnell, rising to say his word, was greeted with a storm of applause. He spoke with all his old-time effectiveness, taking his audience from the heights to the depths.

He referred to Dr. McConnell as the one preacher in the whole world who wanted to be called to the Tabernacle, and declared that Dr. McConnell's coming was a blessing to his people.

Dr. McConnell SPEAKS.

The applause redoubled when Dr. McConnell rose and gave in volume and force the building victory. Dr. McConnell said:

"My chairman and friends in the congregation, who you gentlemen who have so honored me with the many flattering tributes, I cannot begin to tell you how deeply I feel your kindness. If you will permit me to say a few words, I will tell you the story of how I came to this city."

"About twenty-three years ago I stepped off a train at the old Southern depot about 2 o'clock in the morning. I thought I had a job, as we called it then, but I was mistaken. Absolutely stranded, I looked in the 'help wanted' column of a newspaper and saw an advertisement for a man in a restaurant. I applied for the place and my good friend, Mr. Henry Durand, who is seated beside me now, and was employed. I stayed two weeks, but I stayed two years."

JOINED POLICE FORCE.

"At the end of that time, through Mr. Durand's influence, I secured a job at the Atlanta police force. At that time James L. Beavers, another friend of mine, who is sitting on this platform, and who is now your chief of police, was an everyday patrolman like myself. I remained on the force until I became converted, when I resigned and secured a place in the court house. I remember that I might give more time to study for the ministry. At the end of a short time I entered evangelistic work and have been in the night for Christianity ever since."

"I want to say that I am going to give my very best efforts to the uplifting of this church and the kingdom of Christ. I am going to stand here in beginning today. I want every man in this church to come here tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, if it is possible, and want to personally meet every one of you. I want to thank you all from the bottom of my heart for your warm welcome, and I assure you I will share with you every word of my power to merit your continued respect and confidence."

SEVENTEENTH, JR., "CAPTURES" PIEDMONT HOTEL

As a juvenile entertainer, R. Frank Taylor, assistant resident manager of the Piedmont hotel, is a "bear." He has never tried it before, but now that the fee is broken, he has placed himself on record as being very much in favor of playing host to some American, rather than the grown-ups.

The debut of Mr. Taylor as a joint chapter and siver of parties took place last Thursday when he entertained the Seventeenth Infantry, Jr., stationed at Fort McPherson. The regiment in command of "Colonel" Eleanor Stone, the attractive daughter of Captain Charles E. Stone, Jr., of company C, was borne to the Locke street entrance of the hotel in an army wagon drawn by two big mules in charge of Jack and "Chuck" Stone, the smaller brothers of Miss Eleanor, and Walter and Lewis G. Gerrard Jr., sons of Mr. and Mrs. G. Gerrard.

Mr. Taylor, assisted by the dimly "colored" "colored," marched to the seventh theater with Host Taylor under "arrest," and there ordered him to turn loose some real money for six perfectly good tickets to the performance. Mr. Taylor declared that he had the time of his life and there is every reason to believe that he did as the prisoner of some splendid guard.

The regiment expressed its approval of its pull out on by Manager Harkness Cardon, who was with frequent side remarks that were sometimes funnier than the act itself.

After the matinee the prisoner, still under guard, was escorted to the main dining room of the Piedmont hotel where the Seventeenth, Jr., seated itself about a round table, artistically decorated, and ordered Mr. Taylor to bring on the "eats." He did and indulged in the "eats." After the repeat at which all were presented with a music hall that made real music, the little "colored" was presented with a box of candy, whereupon she ordered the release of Mr. Taylor, upon the condition that he would not be shot before sunrise, provided he would stand for another "arrest" in the near future.

This agreed upon, the regiment, flanked by Captain Stone, journeyed back to the fort in the big wagon.

SHOOTS AT ROBBER; PUNCTURES OWN AUTO.

When Hoyd Perry, of 229 North Boulevard, general agent of the National Life Insurance Co., heard a disturbance in the garage at the rear of his home last Sunday night and saw a foot just following its owner through the window of that building, he armed himself for trouble. A moment later he heard a rattling at the doors, as though some one within was trying to force them open. He fired through them.

Later investigation disclosed that he had missed the intruder, but had sent a bullet into the rear of his automobile. The robber, supposed to be a negro, escaped. Call Officers Anderson and Watson investigated.

Rob Soda Water Stand.

W. P. Lindley reported to the police Monday morning that some time during Sunday night a burglar had entered his soda water establishment at 515 East Hunter street and had stolen five boxes of cigars and some tobacco and cigarettes.

Also Makes Plea Against Capital Punishment—"Trial Not Impartial"

A discussion of the Frank case held a prominent part in Dr. A. R. Holdery's sermon, "A Square Deal for Every Man," delivered Sunday morning at the Moore Memorial church.

The minister made the assertion that Leo M. Frank did not receive an impartial trial because of alleged prejudice against him and the infamous condition of the public mind.

Dr. Holdery declared that the church is not concerned with the question of Frank's guilt or innocence, but only with the question of the fairness of his trial.

The minister introduced the subject of the Frank case by saying: "I wish to speak a word of caution to you today as regards your attitude toward one of our citizens who has been convicted of a most atrocious crime. It is not for me or you to add and better evidence or guilty, for the jury has rendered its verdict, but it is for me and you to demand vengeance. Jesus Christ was crucified under just such conditions."

"It is clearly the duty of the church to demand moderation, when innocent, justice and fair dealing for every man, whatever his station in life may be. We have no axe to grind in this matter, but an speaking in the name of God and in behalf of our common humanity."

When the state hangs a man who is innocent of a crime, it is guilty of a judicial murder. No man's life is safe when either can be taken away upon merely circumstantial evidence or because public sentiment demands vengeance. Jesus Christ was crucified under just such conditions."

Dr. Holdery asserted that the trial of Frank was not impartial, because of the prejudice against him and the infamous condition of the public mind.

THEATRES

Every act on the Forebly bill this week will contribute a share to what promises to be the sort of entertainment that really packs the play theater to its limit of capacity.

There are seven numbers on the program.

The Strobe Hunt and company will present "The Singing Countess," one of the newest and most delightful stage sketches the new season has brought to vaudeville. Miss Hunt was one of the original "Chocolate Soldier" cast, and had a lot to do with the success of the sketch.

Mr. Hall was rendering a medley of his own composition when he moved the veterans. The piece was dedicated to the Gettysburg reunion and contained strains from all the national airs. When he reached the tune of the "Star Spangled Banner" the entire audience arose to its feet and stood until the piece was concluded.

Mr. Hall's performance Sunday afternoon was among the notable ones of the summer. The hall was filled with a usual wide-awake crowd and many veterans of the Civil war.

All of the important people on both sides of the case appear in the pictures, and principally will be William Traversa, the famous lawyer, and Judge H. H. Johnston.

Vets of North Stand As "Dixie" Is Played At Auditorium Sunday

A score of Union veterans and their wives, passing through Atlanta en route to the Chattanooga reunion, arose from their seats and stood silently and respectfully while the strains of "Dixie" echoed through the auditorium during the recital of Frederick Hall, of Christ church, Philadelphia, Sunday afternoon.

The act was a mute tribute to the brave men in gray who opposed them in the battle in the '60s when both were younger. The hundreds in the audience were close to applause for the grizzled men in blue and their wives when they resumed their seats.

Mr. Hall was rendering a medley of his own composition when he moved the veterans. The piece was dedicated to the Gettysburg reunion and contained strains from all the national airs. When he reached the tune of the "Star Spangled Banner" the entire audience arose to its feet and stood until the piece was concluded.

Mr. Hall's performance Sunday afternoon was among the notable ones of the summer. The hall was filled with a usual wide-awake crowd and many veterans of the Civil war.

C. A. R. VETS TOUR ATLANTA ON SUNDAY

Delegation Going to Chattanooga Stops Here to Visit Old Battlefields

Atlanta was visited Sunday by about a hundred Grand Army veterans from Chattanooga on their way to the G. A. R. camp at Chattanooga. The veterans and their wives arrived at the train depot at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, and spent the day at the headquarters of the local G. A. R. men and women. They continued their journey to Chattanooga at midnight.

The veterans were met at the station by members of the local G. A. R. and by Confederate veterans and by members of the city government, and spent the morning in their automobiles touring the battlefields around the city. During the course of their tour they stopped for a while at the Chattanooga Soldiers' home. In the afternoon a formal reception was tendered them in the rooms of the Grand Army of the Republic at the Hotel Hamilton. Col. W. M. Gould, president of the local G. A. R., presided. Reminiscences and discussion of incidents of the war were the order of the day. The veterans of the local G. A. R. and of the Confederate veterans, and of the city government, were present. The program was read a poem dedicated to the soldiers of the Confederate army. The singing of the national anthem and of other songs by the veterans of both sides concluded the program. The final song was "The Star-Spangled Banner," which was sung by the veterans of both sides.

LOCAL SUNDAY SCHOOLS HAVE "HOME-COMING" DAY

Attendance Records Swelled by Scholars Returning From Vacation

"Home-coming day" in the Sunday schools of Atlanta, celebrated Sunday in a manner that has never before been known. The attendance records were swelled by scholars returning from vacation. The scholars returned from vacation in the early morning, and many of them had been away for several weeks. LUTHERAN MINISTER PATENTS TWO SUCCESSFUL INVENTIONS

Rev. David A. Sox, D. D., of Carrollton, Ga., Inventor of a Deflector for Railway Passenger Coaches and Automatic Door Stop, and Company is Being Formed in Atlanta to Manufacture Them

Rev. David A. Sox, D. D., pastor of the Lutheran church at Carrollton, Ga., has patented two inventions which have been tried and proven to be successful, and the Southern Utilities Manufacturing company is now being formed in Atlanta for the purpose of putting them on the market.

One is a deflector for railway passenger coaches, and the other is a deflector for railway passenger coaches. The deflector for railway passenger coaches is a V-shaped piece of metal which is fastened midway between the outside seats of each window. It is about five inches wide, and the angle is between 30 and 45 degrees. The deflector for railway passenger coaches is a V-shaped piece of metal which is fastened midway between the outside seats of each window. It is about five inches wide, and the angle is between 30 and 45 degrees.

Gliders coming in contact with the smooth surface of the deflector are instantly thrown away from the coach, thus protecting passengers so that they may sit by open windows without annoyance.

Like many useful inventions, the idea of the deflector was discovered by accident. As a missionary of his church, Dr. Sox has been called on to travel, and one day the cinders annoyed him so much, as he sat by an open window, that he tried to get rid of them by holding it against the outside of the window. In a moment the cinders were striking it and glancing off, so that he was able to sit by the window.

From that experiment Dr. Sox developed his invention, and it is now in use on thirty-five coaches of the Southern Railway. It is being put into use on all of the coaches of the Southern Railway. It is being put into use on all of the coaches of the Southern Railway.

The door stop is the result of an accident. One afternoon Dr. Sox, while telling his little son a story on the front porch of his home in Carrollton, began to write with his pocket knife on a piece of wood. He whittled it into a small stick, and he was about to throw it away when he noticed that it was a good door stop. He then took it to the door and tried it. It was a good door stop. He then took it to the door and tried it. It was a good door stop.

STATE UNIVERSITY OPENS WEDNESDAY

Peabody Hall Is New Building for Students in Department of Education

With the opening of the University of Georgia on the third Wednesday in this month, a new building will be available to the students in the department of education.

This building, Peabody Hall, was completed and formally opened with a reception during the commencement exercises last June, during which time the commencement visitors had opportunity to inspect its excellent accommodations and equipment.

The September bulletin of the university outlines the courses in education which are to be offered in this building for the benefit of those wishing to become teachers in the Georgia schools. In addition to Dean J. Wootter, there are now two men in the faculty of the school of education, namely Dr. L. R. Giesler, who is on the chair of experimental psychology, and Dr. H. W. Odum, who is on the chair of educational sociology, vocational education, general education, history and principles of education, general sociology, philosophy of education, physical education, manual training and all branches of psychology.

In the present equipment of the school, and the faculty the University of Georgia now has a plant for turning out teachers which is the best of that of any university in the south, and will compare favorably with any in the country.

Woman's Picture in Hubby's Pocket Is Divorce Suit Basis

Curses and slaps served to make her mortal life unpleasant. Mrs. Dell Poyette, in a divorce petition filed Monday morning, but despite the unkind words and the blows she continued to be a loving and forgiving wife, until...

Her short time ago according to the petition, when she found in her husband's coat pocket the picture of a mutual acquaintance—feminine—garbed in a September Morn.

That, according to the wife, was more than she could stand, and accordingly she has entered suit through her attorney, John Y. Smith, for divorce and alimony.

Mrs. Poyette has been conducting a boarding house at 27 Poplar street. Her husband, L. Clay Poyette, a tailor, was capable of making a good salary, but preferred to live on the profits of the business. He had abused her several times, she says, and only a few days ago she saw him on the street with another woman. The wife followed her husband and the other woman and saw him escort her to her home.

The following morning, Mrs. Poyette says in her divorce petition, she went through her husband's pockets and found a picture of the woman he had escorted through the streets.

SCHOOL ENROLLMENT
SHOWS BIG INCREASE

Over 1,000 More Additions This Year Than in Corresponding Time in 1912

The registration in the public schools shows an increase of over 1,000 children during the first week of school in comparison with the first week of last year.

Superintendent Slator attributes the increase to the growth of city population within and to new residents who have come into the city since last year.

They have had to order new desks three times to take care of the enlarged enrollment, said Mr. Slator, Monday, and we still are not able satisfactorily to provide for a number of the children.

PURE MILK CAMPAIGN IS INDORSED WIDELY

City Federation of Clubs and Prominent Druggists Join in Movement

The milk committee of the chamber of commerce has the support of the larger druggists in its campaign for pure milk, and several have expressed themselves strongly in favor of the movement.

The City Federation of Clubs also is in sympathy with the movement and will lend every assistance in the campaign.

Mrs. C. J. Hadson, president of the City Federation, said Monday: "We are eager to do all that we can to assist the chamber of commerce in its campaign, and we are equally anxious to help our dairymen in the movement to secure better milk. We approve of every effort to secure a better grade of milk and hope that it will not be long before Atlanta has milk as pure as any other city."

Dr. W. S. Eskin, of the Eskin Drug company, strongly indorses the movement for pure milk: "I have personally investigated the milk situation here, and from what I have seen I know that a change is needed in dairy conditions here. We are not so much concerned in bringing any outside concern to this city to do business here, as we are to secure good milk, wherever any dairymen brings his milk supply to the people of Atlanta. It can be sold by milk men, with even that to improve their dairies."

"And, moreover, when one dairy certifies its milk, the other dairies will have to follow suit, and the general milk standard will be raised."

"We are anxious to co-operate with the dairymen, and we are willing and ready to show them what they can do to improve their dairies."
